

Develop Talent

Provide training to help employees grow and see how far they take you.

When you invest in your employees' professional growth, the dividends you earn include increased productivity and loyalty, plus higher morale and job-satisfaction. Offering your staff skills and management training is a sure sign that you value their contributions and look forward to their continued employment. It's a "pat on the back" that rewards you both.

Our seminars and workshops are designed to help your organization and employees perform at their best.

Employee Effectiveness

- Provide skills to overcome conflict, communicate from strength, motivate team members, capitalize on diversity, write better business documents, and more.

Supervision

- Develop the core competencies of all individuals in your organization who are identified as your leaders of tomorrow.

Human Resources

- Enhance your HR knowledge - learn about HR metrics, administration of FMLA leaves, COBRA notices and much more.

Senior Management

- Provide your busy leaders the opportunity to quickly review the very best of current business thinking and explore ways to use this information with other executives.

Executive Coaching

- Help your executives increase the capacity for strong and dynamic performance. Successful leaders command committed and constructive workforces - the key asset to any organization.

Conflict Resolution

- Mishandled conflict situations damage work relationships and deplete personal energy and focus. Gain insight on how to cause productivity to soar by handling conflict skillfully.

Additionally, we offer training in safety, first aid, computer skills, team building and more. View our catalog online at www.wa-emp.com.

"We value the training offered by Washington Employers as a resource for our managers and supervisors. Our employees feel at ease with the trainers' interaction and come away with useful information that they can implement daily. Most helpful is the ability to customize the workshops to meet our training needs and the on-site training is a particularly cost effective way to educate our staff."

*Pam Gonzalez, PHR, HR Supervisor,
Samson Rope Technologies, Ferndale, WA*